

Hal Schwab

I was raised in the Dunwoody area of Metro Atlanta graduating with a BFA Degree in Illustration from Georgia State University.

After years of free-lance illustrative work and attending additional painting classes, I've come to concentrate on watercolor painting for its affordability, its simplicity, and its versatility. The great results watercolor brings in everyday painting will improve skills in other mediums as well.

Best of all, watercolor painting is great fun for the beginner and the seasoned painter! It's amazing what consistent practice can achieve in a short time!
