

Wendee VanOrder

Wendee VanOrder is a board certified art therapist, educator, author, and mosaic artist. She earned her BA in Psychology from Arcadia University in Glenside, PA and her Masters in Art Therapy from Marywood University in Scranton, PA. She's been a guest lecturer at Savannah College of Art and Design, UGA Gwinnett campus, and Emory University. She's presented workshops on Art Therapy at Freeman Counseling Center, Georgia Baptist Children's Home, as well as for the North Texas Art Therapy Association and Georgia Christian Counselors Association. Wendee has exhibited her work at multiple locations in both Georgia and Texas, as well as online galleries. An author of three self-published books Pieces of His Heart (2007), When Wounded Trees Cry (2014), and Ravens and Receipts (2020), Wendee loves a wide variety of art forms, especially mosaics and enjoys helping others participate in the wonderful metaphor that it is of turning one's brokenness to something beautiful. Wendee has taught mosaic workshops for the past 4 years at art centers, non-profits organizations, and gatherings of all types. She is excited to be an instructor at Cumming Art Center.
